2 BROTHERS SHOT DEAD

Third Brother Arrested As Is Man Who Used Shotgun.

ROBBERY ALLEGED

Deaths Are Climax To Many Quarrels—Both Men Died Almost Instantly.

Rockville, Md., Aug. 19.—Two brothers—Eugene Pearson, 22 years old, and John A. Pearson, 25 years old—sons of Alfred Pearson, a farmer in the vicinity of Poolesville, were shot to death early yesterday evening by Joseph D. Stang, 62 years old, after the brothers are alleged to have attacked his son, Joseph D. Stang, Jr., and his wife and daughter at the Stang home at Cloppers, two miles north of Gaithersburg.

The shooting occurred, it is said, when the Pearson brothers, with another brother, Archie Pearson, 32 years old, chased Francis Cahill, of Brunswick, to the Stang home, after they are alleged to have attacked him and injured him on the road.

A half hour before the shooting, it is alleged, the three Pearson brothers waylaid William Butcher, of Barnesville, and beat and robbed him of $11 and a watch.

Stang and his son were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Stanley Gingell and brought to this city last night. Archie Pearson, the surviving brother, also is under arrest on charges of assault.

The three Pearson brothers, it is is alleged, the three Pearson brothat Cloppers for the benefit of St. Rose's Catholic Church. The brothers, it is said, were under the influence of liquor and created minor disturbances throughout the afternoon.

Shortly after 5 o'clock, it is said, the brothers left the picnic grounds and encountered Cahill, who also had been attending the picnic on the road. The brothers, it is alleged, picked a quarrel with Cahill and then attacked him. During the fight which followed, it is said, one of the brothers hurled a rock which broke Cahill's jaw.

Cahill, it is said, ran in the direction of the Stang home, which is located about 150 yards from the picnic grounds, pursued by the brothers. Reaching the Stang house, it is said, Cahill ran inside, closing the door after him.

Joseph D. Stang, Jr., it is said, surprised at the sudden entry of Cahill, ran to the door to see what was wrong. He was met, it is said, by the Pearson brothers, who knocked him down.

Joseph D. Stang, Sr., who had been in poor health for some time, hearing the disturbance outside the door, it is said, investigated and saw that his wife, daughter and son had been attacked. Going back into the house, it is said, Stang secured a double-barreled shotgun and returning to the door, opened fire with both barrels.

One charge struck Eugene eParson in the neck and the other entered the chest of his brother. Both died almost instantly.

Archie Pearson, it is said, then grasped the gun from Stang's hands and ran away with it.

Deputy Sheriff Gingell, who was attending the picnic, went to the scene of the shooting and arrested Stang and his son. Archie Pearson was arrested later.

Soon after the shooting Butcher appeared and told the authorities that he had been attacked and robbed shortly after 5 o'clock by the brothers. He said he hid in the woods after the attack, being afraid the brothers would do him further harm if he informed upon him.

An autopsy upon the bodies of the Pearson brothers was performed last night at Pumphrey's undertaking establishment, this town, by Dr. William T. Pratt, County Health Officer.

An inquest will be conducted at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

STATE NEWS

Richmond.—The estate of the late Adolph Dill, for many years a prominent Richmond tobaconist, is valued at $597,903.28, of which $35,000 is in real estate. The will was probated in chancery court Wednesday, with John L. Wingo and the Virginia Trust Company as executors. The document was written on June 4, 1921.

Newport News.—Privates Westerfield, Kepford and Sewall, members of the balloon company at Langley Field, have been arrested by the military authorities charged with robberies at the big flying station. It is understood that the men are accused of having broken into the hangars and a quartermaster's store, from which they are alleged to have stolen guns and other army property.

Hampton.—Frank Moody, of Buckroe Beach, employed by the Warwick Machine Company, was drowned this morning while in swimming at the beach. He is said to have come here from Petersburg. Mr .Moody was out swimming with Wilson Roper, well known Petersburg man. They were out in deep water, when suddenly Mr. Moody went under. Mr. Roper tried to save him, and did get his body ashore, but he was dead.

Bristol.—R. F. Williams, well known North Carolina traveling salesman, was instantly killed near Erwin, Tenn., when an automobile driven by E. Tittle, of Johnson City, turned over on Bogart's hill. His neck and back were broken and his skull fractured, according to information received here. Mr. Tittle was seriously injured, and was taken to a hospital in Erwin. The accident is said to have been attributed to the heavy rains that caused the embankment to give way, the car turning over.

Richmond.—Without batting an eye or showing the slightest trace of nervousness, Will Elmore, negro, 29 years old, heard Judge Jesse F. West, in Husting's court, part II, South Richmond, early tonight pronounce words that sounded his doom. He was sentenced to be electrocuted in the Virginia penitentiary between sunrise and sunset September 30 for the cruel and brutal murder of W. Tignall Elmore, merchant of Tobacco, Brunswick county, the night of August 1. This was in accordance with the verdict of the Richmond jury which tried him.

Hopewell.—Clyde Bristow, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bristow, has been missing from his home here since Tuesday afternoon. The boy, who is ten years old, but rather large for his age, is thought to have headed for Richmond. When he left home he was wearing a light gray cap, a striped shirt and brown pants. Clyde is somewhat precocious and it is believed here that he set out for Richmond in the belief that "the big city" is the proper place in which to acquire fame and fortune.

Spotsylvania.—James Asa Guy, who was arrested in Newport News on complaint of a prominent citizen of this country that he had eloped with the daughter of this citizen, while already married, was given a continuance until Saturday when brought before Justice M. W. Micks. Guy declares that he will demonstrate to the satisfaction of the court that he was unmarried at the time he contracted the marriage with the Spotsylvania girl. He was released on bail of $1,000.

Danville.—Joseph Whitehead, of Chatham, this afternoon announced his candidacy for Congress from the Fifth Virginia District. He has been considering the step for several days. He is 53 years of age, a member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, and was for some years chairman of the Pittsylvania Democratic Committee. He served in the State Senate two terms, from 1889 to 1904. For some years he was a law partner of Senator Claude Swanson. He graduated in law from the University of Virginia.

DELAY ACTION TILL MONDAY

Irish Republican Parliament To Take Up British Proposals.

EXPECT NEW OFFER

Dail Eireann In Session Six Hours Considering Routine Matters—Parliament To Continue

London, Aug. 19.—"If the alliance with Japan could be merged into a greater understanding with Japan and the United States on all the problems of the Pacific that would be a great event and it would be a guarantee for the peace of the world."

Thus spoke David Lloyd George the British Prime Minister, before the House of Commons today in outlining the work of the recent conference of the Imperial Premiers.

The Premier was dealing specifically with the Anglo-Japanese alliance at the time and explaining how the conference had unanimously recognized that Japan loyally had carried out her obligations to Great Britain during the war in letter and in spirit.

Mr. Lloyd George asked if it was to be suggested that Great Britain now should turn her back upon Japan with a mere "thank you" and "good bye" after Japanese aid had proved one of the turning factors in the war, in that it had given protection to the transit of Dominion and Indian troops across seas. Even countries disliking the Anglo-Japanese alliance would despise the British if after such services Great Britain turned her back upon Japan, he declared.

The Premier said he saw no reason why it should be impossible to remember obligations to Japan and at teh same time preserve a spirit of fraternity with the United States.

It was a carnival principle of British policy, the Premier continued, that Great Britain should act in as complete accord with the United States as possible. He did not know of any country in the world with whom it was more important to act in concert. He declared that the surest way to make a success of the Disarmament Conference was first to reach an understanding on Pacific questions and he hoped his view in this respect would be taken at the Washington gathering.

During his address Mr. Lloyd George revealed the fact that the conference of the Premiers did not discuss the Irish qquestion. He said there was no burning desire to touch upon that difficult matter. The Premier defended the action of General Smuts, the South African Premier, with regard to Ireland. He said General Smuts had acted perfectly straightforwardly and honorably and that everything he had done was done with the full assent of the King and the Ministry.

"When you come to the question of a renewal of the Anglo Japanese Alliance," said Mr. Lloyd George, "You must take into account how it has operated. There was a real test in the late war. No man who watched what happened could come to any other conclusion than that it was loyally and faithfully interpreted and carried out by our Japanese ally The Pacific was being raided by fast German cruisers; our ships were being sunk. And we had to depend on the help of Australia and New Zealand."

The Premier proceeded to describe how Great Britain's immense fleet was strained to the very last ship, new and old, in the gigantic operations for protecting Great Britain's own shores in the North Sea, the North Atlantic and the Mediterranean.

"In the immense Pacific Ocean and in the Southern Atlantic," Mr. Lloyd George continued, "how were we to guarantee 500,000 colonial and 1,000,000 Indian troops crossing thousands of miles of sea against the raiders? We could not have done it but for the fact that our Japanese ally came to our aid.

Misses Catharine and Virginia Page, both of this city, have returned home after a two weeks' motor trip to Atlantic City and Cape May, N. J.

LABOR DAY PICNIC PLANS

Sunday Schools to Hold One At George Mason High School Grounds.

PLAN BIG TIME

Committees Named To Look After Details—Athletic Program Planned.

The Alexandria Sunday School picnic is to be held at the George Mason high school grounds Labor Day. This was decided at a meeting of the Sunday school superintendents of the city at the Y. M. C. A. office in the Westminister building. The first picnic of the joint Sunday school of the city was held at the same place last year, and it is doubtful if a more beautiful place could be found for such a gathering.

All of the detials of the affair have not as yet been worked out, but it is assured by the committees appointed at the meeting of the superintendents that the picnic this year will be one that the kiddies will remember a long time. The matter of concessions will be left in the hands of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., and "drinks," "eats" and "novelties" of every description will be placed at the disposal of the youngsters.

Samuel Pitts, superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday School, will be in charge of the transportation problems, which he says will consist mainly of notifying the street car company to have plenty of cars on hand to handle every boy and girl in the city, as he is sure none will fail to attend.

A. E. Elmore, acting superintendent of the Second Presbyterian Sunday school, is chairman of the entertainment committee, and associated with him on the committee are: Miss Corrinne Reardon, of the M. E., South, Sunday school; Miss Elizabeth Ramey, of the Trinity M. E. school; James B. Williams, of the First Baptist school, and Mrs. David Jones, of St. Paul's.

K. E. Wallace, of St. Paul's is chairman of the athletic committee, and the other members of the committee are Harold Davis, of the M .E., South school; E. L. Cornell, of the Second Baptist school; C. H. Brown, of the First Baptist; Kenneth Wicker, Second Presbyterian, and Bishop Arnold, of Trinity.

COLUMBIAN PLAYERS

Annual Election Of Officers Tonight At Lyceum Hall

The annual election of officers of the Columbian Players will take place tonight at the meeting of the players at the Lyceum Hall at 8 o'clock. The Columbian Players commence their third year of functioning, and throughout the period of their existence they have provided for the theater loving people of our city productions that evinced originality, cleverness and beauty, and in all cases the people of our community have co-operated with the players in the way of large attendance at the different shows.

The players are manifesting a great deal of interest in their contemplated trip to Benedict, Maryland, this coming Sunday, when over 40 of the members will leave Alexandria in large touring cars for a day at the popular Maryland seaside resort. The expenses of the outing will be borne by the individual members, as the constitution of the Columbian Players provides that the proceeds of all Columbian productions must be devoted to charitable or benevolent purposes.

Senator E. Lee Trinkle, of Wytheville, Democrat nominee for Governor, spent $9,433 in the August primary, and Colonel Junius E. West of Suffolk, nominee for Lieutenant Governor, $9,472, according to the statements of expense filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth yesterday.

Moonlight Picnic.

100 Members of Bible Classes of First Baptist Church Enjoy Outing.

With the light of a beautiful moon to light the way, about one hundred of the members of the Baraca and Philathea Bible classes of the First Baptist Church went by truck and automobile to the home of Mr. John A. Martin, at Franconia. The excursion was known as the "Married Man's" picnic but was attended by many of the younger ones. Once at the Martin homestead, the joymakers began their work and games were played until it was announced that the feast was spread. At this the games lost all their charm and the entire party gathered around the table which was loaded down with sandwiches, coffee, cakes, candy, ice cream and all the things that go to make a picnic feast what it is. After having satisfied their appetites preparations for returning home were started. Mr. and Mrs. Martin were heartily thanked for their hospitality and the homeward journey was made with singing and laughter.

The lawn was decorated beautifully with Japanese lanterns and was just the thing for the joyous picnickers' games. The return trip was all too fast even for those on the truck with engine trouble, which did not arrive in town until near midnight.

Lloyd George Says British Policy In Accord With United States—Reassures This Country.

Dublin, Aug. 19.—Although the members of the Irish Republican Parliament deliberated at the Mansion House for three hours yesterday morning and came together again for three hours last night there was no discussion of the attitude to be adopted toward the proposals of Premier Lloyd George, and the announcement made when the evening's session was concluded indicates that no decision relative to peace can be looked for before Monday.

There will be no sittings of the Dail Eireann on Friday and Saturday, the official announcement said, the time being devoted to meetings of subcommittees. On Monday, however, the private sitting of the Parliament will be resumed, and the business on the agenda will be the peace negotiations.

Yesterday's time was taken up with consideration of reports submitted by the various Ministers of the Republican Cabinet. The reports of the Ministers require a great deal of explanation, as not only the 80 new deputies are unacquainted with them, but many other elder members who spent the greater portion of the past year in jail, internment camps or in the hills with the Irish Republican Army are unfamiliar with the machinery of the Republican Government.

The nature of the "sacrifices" to Ulster that Mr. de Valera has in mind were not disclosed yesterday, but it was believed today that he would reveal to the members of Parliament the steps he would advocate in bringing Ulster into accord with Sinn Fein. The health department is again after persons who have failed to comply with the sewer tap law. A woman was cited into court today for failing to tap the sewer abutting her premises. She promised to comply with the law, but her failure to tap the explained was that the sewer was too low to drain her yard. A colored man also charged with failing in this respect said he did not have the necessary funds with which to do the work. He was given ten days in which to make the necessary arrangements.

Judge Snow Lenient In Cases of D. C., Traffic Violator

"I am not going to be harsh with you like some of the Washington judges are with Alexandrians, charged with violating the traffic laws," said Judge Snow in the police court today when a young Washington man was charged with violating the provisions of the law by making the wrong turn at King and Alfred streets.

The defendant told the court he did not observe the marker in the center of the street, adding that if he did he would have made the proper turn. The court dismissed the case after hearing the testimony. The man was cited to appear by Policeman Magner.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Washington, Aug. 19.—It has been virtually decided that the sessions of the conference on limitation of armaments will take place in the Pan American Union building here. Although formal offer of the building has not been made, the governing board, composed of representatives of South and Central American Republics, is expected to take formal action as soon as a quorum of its members returns to Washington.

This makes it certain that whatever is the decision in regard to the holding of public meetings at the conference there will be no gathering to which the general public will be admitted. The Hall of the Americas largest room in the building seats only about 2000 persons at its fullest capacity which would not be more than enough room to seat those officially connected with the conference plus newspaper representatives.

Burns Appointed

The appointment by Attorney General Daugherty of William J. Burns, head of the detective agency in New York of that name, as Chief of the Bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice will recall to Gazette readers the part Burns played in the case of Leo Frank, the Atlanta shirt manufacturer which created such a sensation four or five years ago. Burns was sent to Atlanta to gather evidence to show that Frank was not guilty of the crime for which he was finally convicted, sent to the penitentiary and later on lynched by a mob. The presence of Burns in Georgia and his injection into the Frank case highly incensed the people of Georgia and especially those of Atlanta. Burns was notified that his presence in the state was obnoxious and that the best thing he could do would be to pack up and go back to New York. Incidentally, Burns took the advice, ceased his investigations and left Georgia without securing the evidence that he had hoped would be available.

Congressman Robertson

Does Miss Alice Robertson Congresswoman from the State of Oklahoma really represent the women of the country? This question is being answered both "No" and "Yes" since her recent statement concerning the appointment of a woman on the disarmament conference. Debate on the question is likely to rage pro and con for sometime as Miss Alice's term does not expire until March 4, 1923, and because she gives evidence of an independent mind that is likely to cause her to oppose any of the radical women's movements wherever and whenever she happens to decide that such a movement is not a good one. Miss Robertson is being denounced as an anti-suffragist, as a political accident and as not representative of the women of the nation in some quarters. In others, she is being praised for her attitude on affairs of particular interest to womankind.

24 Hour Trip to London

From New York to London in twenty-four hours. This is the claim being made by the constructors of the aerocruiser, an American invention, a new type of rigid dirigible balloon having no resemblance in its formation and construction to the "cigar shaped" airships. With a specially designed motor, the inventors of the aero-cruising claim they will be able to drive a 530 foot machine having gas capacity of 3,800,000 cubic feet through the air from New York to London or New York to San Francisco in 24 hours nonstop flights. One of the 530 foot types of this airship powered by a battery of their specially designed Tandem motors could carry 200 to 250 people through the air better than 100 miles an hour.

Need Price Readjustment

According to George E. Roberts, former Director of the Mint and now associated with the National City Bank of New York, economic conditions, not only in this country, but throughout Europe will not show any material improvement until there is a sharp readjustment in prices between the raw and manufactured products. Mr. Roberts, who was at the White House today, has just returned to this country after attending a conference of international bankers in London. He declares that Europe has learned its lesson from the spectacle of millions starving in Russia.

"The people of Europe are aghast at the sorry mess made of Russia by the Soviet," he stated, "and the spectacle of that country has proven an effective tonic against further encroachments of this character.

PLUMBERS THREATEN STRIKE— DEMAND 50 CENTS MORE A DAY

Washington, Aug. 19.—Building activities in the District are threatened by a strike of District plumbers, it became known last night with announcement by the Master Plumbers' Association that a demand for an increase in wages by the journeymen plumbers' union will not be granted.

Local Union No. 5, United Asosciation of Plumbers, demanded an increase of 50 cents a day over the present wage of $8 a day in a communication to the Master Plumbers' Association last Thursday. The union ultimatum asked that the increase go into effect next Monday.

At a meeting last night the Master Plumbers' Association, comprising all District plumbing employers, declared it would not grant the increase, but offered to submit the question to arbitration by Secretary of Labor Davis.

Several Alexandria plumbers are said to be identified with this union.

Two Hundred Lose Places At Navy Yard.

Two hundred and twenty addition al employes have been dropped by the Navy Yard. On Tuesday 200 were discharged and today twenty others.

The employes represent the various trades employed at the yard, including laborers. The laying off of the men is due ot the lack of appropriation by Congress for salaries of the employes.

It is predicted that others will have to be dropped in the near future.

When the case of a colored man giving the name of Henry Wilson called in the police court today to answer a charge made by the police of shoplifting, the accused waived the fromality of a preliminary hearing, and was held for the action of the grand jury. When arrested Wilson had two dresses in his possession which he purchased from another colored man whom he does not know. He says he gave $8 for the dresses.

REED LIKENS VOLSTEAD TO WITCH BURNERS

Washington, Aug. 19.—Prefacing his attack upon Congressman Volstead, in the discussion of the Anti-beer bill in the Senate today, Senator Reed said he had always been willing to give the prohibition amendment a chance to function.

"I had never had the pleasure of seeing until the other day the distinguished author of the Volstead act," said Senator Reed. "I do not know whether he was born in the United States or not, but I am informed he speaks broken English. I do not know what his ancestry may be; but I do know I have seen the picture of some of the conspirators of those who led in fanatical revolt, the burners of witches, the executioners who applied the torch—and I saw them all again when I looked at the author of this amendment."

TODAY'S THOUGHT — Fire is the test of gold; adversity, of strong men.

STATE FARM VALUES

We noted in yesterday's editorial columns a gratifying increase in the number of farms in Virginia since the census of 1910. We are just in receipt of another instalment of the 1920 census, which shows an increase in farm values of nearly 100 per cent. The total value of the state's farms in 1910 was placed, in round figures, at 532 millions of dollars. In 1920 the valuation is fixed at over a billion dollars. These figures include both land and buildings. Those farms operated entirely by their owners were valued at $679,557,000, as against 67 millions for those including leased lands.

The total valuation of farm lands in the United States for 1920, is over 66 billions of dollars of which about 30 billions in value are operated entirely by their owners.

It seems, therefore, that about 70 per cent in value of the farms in Virginia are operated by their owners, while only 45 per cent of the United States farms in value were so operated. This of course is a point in favor of the state.

Texas leads in the number of farms, having 436,000; the next state is Georgia, with 311,000; the third state is Mississippi, with 272,000; then come Kentucky, North Carolina, and Missouri, in the order named. Virginia ranks 20th, with 186,000 farms.

In value, however, the sequence is different. First comes Iowa, with a farm valuation of $7,601,772,000; next, Illinois, with farms valued at $5,998,000,000; then Texas, Nebraska, Minnesota, California and Missouri, in the order named, each having over three billions in value. Virginia ranks twenty-first in sequence as to farm lands, her valuation being fixed at $1,024,435,000.

The United States has 6,448,000 farms, valued at $66,334,309,000, or an average valuation for each farm, of about $1030. Virginia has 186,000 farms, valued at $1,024,435,000, or an average of $551 per farm. Iowa heads the list with an average farm value of $3,500; next comes California with $2,660; then Illinois, with 2,530; and Minnesota, with $1,900.

According to the figures of the new census the value of the farms, lands and buildings, is about two-thirds of all the wealth of the country. Virginia in the next ten years can make great strides if she will, by adopting the methods of modern science, and availing herself of the new discoveries and inventions. She has already awakened to this fact, and the exhibits, fairs, rural instruction districts, traveling agricultural agencies, and the like, are equipping her farmers as never before, and fitting them to take a far more advantageous position among her sister states by the time of the next census.

FISH TALES

(For the Gazette.)

Dolphins have remarkably acute hearing.

All starfishes have the power to restore or regenerate injured parts.

Some phosphorescent deep sea fish catch their prey by means of the lights from their glowing fins.

The great barracuda, which is found off both coasts of North America, is as savage as the shark. It sometimes attains a length of eight feet.

Shad is a name given to a certain species of migratory herring, which are distinguished by the absence of teeth in the jaws. They are greenish on the back and silvery on the side.

There is a shooting fish with a hollow cylindrical beak. When it sees a fly on any plant that grows in shallow streams, it ejects a single drop of water, which knocks the fly into the tide.

There is a fish which lies buried in the cora sand of the South Seas, the spines of whose dorsal fin are hollow like the fang of a rattlesnake. When stepped on it ejects a poison which kills or cripples the victim.

"The Yellow Arm" serial also will be shown.

RICHMOND—"HELIOTROPE."

If you're tired of just "movies" and are eager to see a picture that is as delightfully different from the average run of screen entertainment as was "Humoresque," then go to the Richmond Theatre today and see "Heliotrope."

Adapted from a story by Richard Washburn Child, this picture blends thrills, a touch of mystery, real heart appeal, and a surprise ending in a manner that cannot fail to please. Of course there is romance in it too, but sex love is subordinated to a theme thus far neglected by the cinema-makers—a wayward father's love and sacrifice to insure the happiness of his daughter.

Prices On Automobiles Take Another Tumble.

Detroit, Aug. 19.—A third cut in prices announced today by the producers of Hudson and Essex automobiles puts these well known models at lower prices than ever before.

The Hudson Super-Six last year sold at $2,600. The new price places it at $1,895. The Essex price last year was $1,795. It now is $1,375. These prices refer to open touring models. Similar reductions have been made on all models.

Officials of the two companies say that heavy sales this summer have exhausted old inventories, reduced overhead costs and that they are now able to buy materials at new low costs.

NEGRO POPULATION AND THE DEATH RATE.

The increase of Negro population in the United States in the past ten years, given by the census authorities as 6.5 per cent is the smallest yet known. The figures have attracted wide attention, especially in the South where both this small increase and the migration of the last few years emphasize the abnormally high death rate among Negroes, and the need for more generous provision for their health and general welfare. Some state boards of health, like those of Virginia and North Carolina, have for years been building up a humane and statesmanlike policy in this respect; and public sentiment throughout the South is growing rapidly in regard to the need and obligation for such work. The Columbia, S. C., State in a recent editorial urges it upon the attention and the conscience of "every Southern governor, legislature, college and progressive association," and individually of "every good man and woman." Many other papers take the same attitude; and some add frankly that health and prosperity will never be secure for any part of the South until they are secure for all.

THE MEANS TO RURAL BETTERMENT

Representative R. Walton Moore has appointed his committee of twenty-four citizens to act with him for the improvement of rural life in Virginia. As has been set forth, the purpose is to "devise means to bring into active co-operation the full strength of the Virginia people for the betterment of rural life." The committee is a representative one and the object commendatory, but the thought occurs that the "means to the betterment of country life" is not far to seek or difficult to find. It is right at hand in the building of good roads, and the committee might well attain its object promptly and effectively by associating itself with or putting itself squarely behind the Virginia Good Roads Association in its work of lifting Virginia out of the mud.

Rural life in Virginia will not improve appreciably until good roads make every part of the State easily accessible. When that has been done betterment of rural life will largely take care of itaself. It has been the history of other states, and history will repeat ieself in this one, tha good roads, good homes, good farms, good schools and good churches go along. In the absence of good roads all the others are usually lacking. It is a social and economic combination that cannot be broken up, and ideal rural life will never be found along streaks of mire and dust. Here, then, Mr. Moore and his fellow committeemen will find the solution of the great Virginia problem which they have determined to solve.—[Richmond Times-Dispatch.]

A STATEMENT FROM MR. CEASE, PRESIDENT PRODUCERS' CO-OPERATIVE EXCHANGE

The Producers' Co-operative Exchange having been appointed the buying agency for the farm organizations (outlined in letters herein enclosed) we deem it wise to stress the importance of a large volume of fertilizer being turned into our organization, so that they can have a real business proposition to submit to the manufacturers of fertilizer.

We believe that with sufficient tonnage in, and cash paid, that we, the consumers of fertilizer, have a right to expect a better price than now prevails. You should act promptly, filling out your contracts, so that we can go ahead in a business like way and show to the manufacturers that the agricultural interests of Virginia are capable of doing things in a business like way.

Our organization stands ready to serve you as an incorporated farmer-owned business, and we trust that you will give up an opportunity to serve you.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

Nashville, Tenn., —Ten thousand Epworth Leaguers have attended the 37 summer conferences which have been held in 15 Southern states, according to Miss Ina C .Brown, Associate Superintendent of Missionary work in the Epworth League, Nashville, Tenn.

"The summer conference has come to be one of the most important and effective agencies at our command," said Miss Brown. "These conferences for the most part are held in colleges or summer hotels on the assembly plan, averaging five days each. The conferences are both inspirational and educational, including study classes in methods, administration, and missions. Addresses by leaders of national repute are outstanding features. Life service is given prominence and hundreds of young people have volunteered for missionary work in home and foreign fields. Young people who attend the summer conference go back to their home churches having learned not only the most effective methods of work, but with enthusiasm for passing on what they have gained .Always some time each day is given to directed recreation which includes swimming, boating and hiking.

"Prominent among the summer conferences held during the present season was the gathering at Lake Junaluska, N. C., early in July. More than two hundred were present and took part in the daily program. Bishop DuBose of California, pioneer worker in the Epworth League organization, was among the notables present and rendered valuable assistance."

yesterday, new proposals to Great Britain might be made, and there were observers who expressed the belief that the offer would take the form of a proposition to enter the commonwealth of British dominions as an independent state. An agreement granting the Prime Minister's stipulations relative to naval control of the seas about Ireland and air bases on the island might be complementary to such an offer, in the opinion of men, who had followed closely the work of the Parliament.

The possibility of calling a plebiscite, by which the people of Southern Ireland might give their leaders a mandate governing their future activities in the negotiations, remained yesterday as one of the solutions of the situation.

London, Aug. 19.—Uncertainty over the Irish situation has caused the Government to change its plans, and instead of proroguing Parliament tomorrow, as has been intended, it will merely be adjourned until October 18. The Speaker, in the interval will have the power to convoke Parliament should Irish developments necessitate it.

Premier Lloyd George is expected to make a statement on the Irish situation just before adjournment tomorrow.

Optimism with regard to the Irish situation was still being expressed today in British official circles, where it was indicated this attitude was considered justified in the lack of definite rejecton of the Government's terms by action of the Dail Eireann, although it was added that the reports from Dublin furnished a scant basis for such a view.

Eamonn de Valera, it was stated, has not yet convinced the British of the sincerity of his uncompromising statements of the last two days, the officials being reluctant to believe an offer which to them appeared so generous would be rejected outright

The opinion obtains in official quarters, it was indicated, that the Irish leaders are still playing for time and increased prestige at home and abroad as the result of the formal opening of the Dail Eireann, and its businesslike conduct of affairs, and to this there is no objection from London if it proves to mean the continuance of the negotiations.

As to the truce being broken and the warfare of a month ago resumed, officials stated that in their view there was not a chance of such a thing occurring.

THE LITTLE CITY

By Frances Thompson

(For The Gazette)

When a city becomes possessed of individuality and speaks a language of its own to its people, it is one of the great cities, though its population be but a handful and it is known elsewhere as a "one horse town." Six miles below the city of Washington is such a town. Although the average Washingtonian knows it chiefly by the humorous references made to it in vaudeville shows, Alexandria is, to those who know her, like an old lady of quality, who, with true southern pride, remembers the fine material of which she is made and smiles up her sleeve at the crude jests of wanton comedians.

She is overshadowed by Washington, but she makes no attempt to imitate her. Washington is new, beautiful, like a lovely modern young girl. but Alexandria is possessed of a quiet beauty of her own. She is not less lovely than Washington, but hers is like the loveliness of a deep blue sapphire placed next to a sparkling diamond. It has been said that a woman is most charming when she reaches that stage when she no longer feels it necessary to attract admiration, and Alexandria has reached that stage of composure.

Its streets are paved roughly in places with cobble stones, but the houses which line each side of them are reminiscent of colonial times. Substantial bricks, some red and some yellow, with broad flat fronts and big green shutters, nearly every one with a yard and a shade tree. These are just homes, but I can remember now one old mansion which once had a square of ground around it, and it houses the descendants of one of the first families of Virginia. It is square and dignified, of dark brick, and the stairs come straight down to the hall at the big front doors, as if welcoming, with Virginia hospitality, any visitor who may come It is entirely possible, too, that these thick oak doors once swung open to admit General Washington. Indeed, it is this spirit of past glory which pervades the town and gives to it distinction. Everything about it seems to remind us that Washington and Lee are two or three grandfathers behind us.

What American would not be thrilled by the wonder of Old Christ Church, beautiful both in itself and in its associations. In May when the morning sun in Christ Church yard turns the grass to a vivid green, and under the trees, older than living men are cast darker shadows we can see, if we but half try, the belles of colonial times, with their bright dresses and parasols, discussing the latest fashions before riding off in their coaches and four. I am sure that they loitered in the church yard for a chat, for human nature does not change with time.

There is no architect in America who has the witchery in his fingers to build a church as beautiful as this low and hallowed one of dark red brick, with its fence of iron palings closing in from the world its solemn loveliness. The charm of it is like that of yellowed ivory, revered because of the touch of gone and beloved hands.

To fully describe it would be like telling the variation in the beauty of a woman in her different gowns. Christ Church is a real aristocrat because, though the little birds that drank from the pools in the uneven pavement at her doors only little English sparrows, she makes them welcome with gentleness and grace.

I remember the church, too, in the flurry of a snow storm at Christmas, the white down covering the trees with loving care, making the headstones still whiter and finding a resting place in the window sills. I have seen it in the heat-storms of summer, unafraid of the lightning; and in the warm suns of June, and I have found that in all conditions of nature, it assumes new charms.

Then there is Windmill Hill, a gentle eminence at the foot of Lee Street, which directly overlooks the Potomac. Every summer evening after supper the people gather in small groups to watch the river boats. An old man comes, followed by a child bringing a chair for him. Once the old man brought a chair for his grandfather to Windmill Hill, but the tide has ebbed and flowed many times since then. The old man and child take their places among the crowd. It is story hour for the boy, and his grandfather tells him of those days in the Civil War, when he was the lad's age, and the little city was a surging war town. He tells him of the old veteran who was shot on King street because he dared to sing, in the presence of Northern soldiers:

"I'm a good old rebel
That's just what I am
For a yankee soldier
I do not care a damn."

The old man sighs and remembers the evenings on the Hill when his grandfather told him stories of the War of 1812 and of Thomas Jefferson.

Here comes the Macalester! White against the dusky river, she breaks its calm into foam at her wheel On the other shore the trees of Maryland form a background for her. She passes Alexandria at dusk, before it is dark enough to light up. Atop a staff on her bow she carries a single brilliant, blue-white light, which sparkles in the dim world like the first star of evening. Within fifteen minutes of the Macalester's passing the Southland goes by, on her way to Norfolk and the sea. It is darker then and from each of her cabin windows comes a square of yellow light. In the breast of every youth who watches from Windmill Hill there is that feeling that Will o' the Mill had when he wanted to follow the brook to the sea.

After the Southland passes, the boy takes up his grandfather's chair and follows him home, and the rest of the little group go each their way to the business or pleasure of the evening.

Next to Windmill Hill, I love King Street on Saturday night. To me, it seems bustling with its importance to the little town. Alexandria housewives pass each other, their market baskets on their arms, with friendly greetings. Mothers are in the little shops making last minute purchases of bright hair bows for the Sabbath. In front of Lunt's a little group of southern gentlemen, the business men of the town, are gathered with their pipes and their chatter, and Lunt has brought out the old fashioned office chairs to make them comfortable.

On Sunday morning fishing from the wharves at the foot of the town, by another type of citizen. He does not care to make his living in the conventional way, and depends upon the tides of the Potomac to bring him driftwood and fish, and the Potomac never fails him. He enjoys the temporal things of life as they come to him, and it worries him not that he will "never set the river afire."

This is the little city which Washington delights to ridicule, but the little city cares not a fig and goes right on in her own sweet way, bathing her ankles in the Potomac and remembering with true Southern pride the fine material of which she is made.

SOMETHING TO REPORT

A drooping and humiliated delegation left Central High School that afternoon. The weekly meeting of the Junior American Red Cross Council had just adjourned and the four delegates from the Bennett School were downcast.

"We didn't have a single thing to report" said Kent Adams angrily. "Something has to be done to put old Bennett on the map."

"Isn't it a shame?" agreed pretty Bertha Carr. "All the other girls had something to tell the Council but me."

Sturdy George Harris and bright-eyed Evelyn Shore said they felt every bit as bad about it as did Kent and Bertha. All agreed that something must be done to put some life into the Junior Red Cross program of the Bennett School. The next morning the four Council delegates went to their teacher and told her that if they could not undertake some special Junior work so that they might have something worth while to report at the next meeting of the Council they would not attend.

Surprised by this outburst on the part of four of her pupils the teacher quietly investigated and soon discovered that the children were right. Her school was lagging in its Junior program. A few days later when the Red Cross Chapter sent out a call for the making of a number of medicine cabinets towels and wash cloths for a Public Health Service Hospital the Juniors of Bennett School demanded the right to fill the entire order. They considered it their first big opportunity for service. The request was granted and at the next meeting of the Council, it was a proud quartette of delegates that submitted the report for Bennett School.

Mr. Dodson Warns Against Use of Treacherous, Dangerous Calomel

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.
If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.
If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodsons Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless pleasant and safe to give to children: they like it.

TRAVELING LIBRARIES ARE FREE

Do you know that the Virginia State Library will lend you and your neighbors a collection of from 25 to 50 books free?
Not cheap books, but good books—the very best to be had.
Each collection contains books of fiction, poetry, travel, history biography, science, and other branches of literature, and the collection borrowed by your school or community may be kept for six months or longer. On its return to the State Library a new collection will be sent you.
The farmer and his family will find many of these books of tremendous interest and value. There are books on farming, dairying, fertilizing, draining, the care of cattle, sheep, hogs, and other animals, orcharding, bee-keeping, etc. And all are free.
Though the books are for the use of all classes of our Virginia people, it is probable that the needs of our country people are more particularly kept in mind when new books are purchased. It is the special desire of those connected with the State Library that the books go into the districts of the State farthest removed from towns and railroads. In those districts live the people, both young and old, who need them most.
A circular came to the Virginia State Library a few days ago from the Tennessee State Library containing the following paragraph, which I hope each reader of this leaflet will think over:
"Did you ever think what just one good book may mean to a boy or girl? Abraham Lincoln walked barefoot in winter for miles to find one book that gave him his first great vision and changed the course of his life and the world. Woodrow Wilson says one book made for him a new earth and a new heaven, and once a week for many years he read the one poem in that book by which he guided his life. You can almost read the League of Nations in that
Our collections are fixed of three general kinds:—
1. School sets, of from 25 to 50 books each, suitable for young people of school age, with a few books specially helpful to teachers. These collections are lent for the school session. Every wideawake teacher will wish a set to aid in awakening the minds of the young people under his care.
2. Sets containing books of interest to older people.
3. A few sets on special subjects for the use of study clubs.
Those who are interested should apply to the State Librarian, Richmond, Virginia, for special blanks.

THE SERVICE MAN'S DEPARTMENT AND THE MAN WHO IS TO RUN IT

The day of dual responsibility, of divided authority in the Government's dealings with former service men is over.
All governmental agencies engaged in administering soldier legislation as provided to benefit veterans of the world war are at last consolidated into one organization, under one head, and with one object, to demonstrate that the United States can make of its dealings with ex-service men a co-ordinated and an efficient business, conducted as great going concerns are run anywhere else in the land.
This new organization is known as the Veterans' Bureau; the Director on whose shoulders the entire administration programme for soldier welfare now rests, is Colonel Chas. R. Forbes, a business man from the West whom President Harding pursuant of his practical judgment that a Government office requires the same sort of ability that is demanded by large business elsewhere, drew out to Washington several months ago as Director of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.
And here are a few of the things that being Director of the Veteran's Bureau entails. It means:
That his is the responsibility of solving that heart rending and imminent problem of providing hospitalization for all ex-service men who have been war-crippled or disabled in any way.
That, supplementing the hospital construction program for which $18,600,000 has already been appropriated and plans for the disbursement of which through the Treasury Department are under way, the new Director is now given authority to enter in contract with State, municipal or private hospitals for the accomodation at once of those veterans in pressing need of hospital care.
That the rigid inspection of these hospitals will now be under his management and that the administration of them as business institutions as well as their human functioning as havens of sympathetic care and rest for the disabled marshall be o charge.
That the 26,630 War Risk patients now being cared for in the 800 private and the 90 Government hospitals at present available for their use, and the 1000 average monthly increase of these wards requiring treatments annually are now accountguardian of their care.
That the doctors who in the past have made over a million examinations of applicants for compensation under the War Risk Act, and the United States Public Health physicians who have furnished in dispensaries almost a million and a half treatments annually, are now accountable to him as commander-in-chief, this complete authority being now transferred from the United States Public Health Service to the Veteran's Bureau.
That the difficult and complex task of restoring to the war-disabled man his former earning capacity or creating in him a new one through that vocational rehabilitation which it is the duty of the Federal Government to supply to former service men now depends for its solution on the new directorship.
Under the act which created the Veterans' Bureau, those "powers and duties" in behalf of the service man formerly vested in the Federal Board for Vocational Education pase to Director Forbes to carry on.
That he is the head of an insurance business of 651,054 active policies, 397,890 term War Risk policies with a commuted value of $2,980,660 235, and 298,386 policies of United States Government Insurance with a value of $1,000,702,500.
And he is responsible for the average million dollars a day expenditure by the Government in meeting the compensation and insurance claims which are increasing at the rate of 700 new claims a day.
The Act which created the Veteran's Bureau liberalizes certain provisions of the War Risk Act and the adequate administration of these new benefits to the ex-service man will increase the activities of the Bureau to perhaps a fifth again of their present extent.

New York Sales Are Enormous.

Biggest Thing of Kind Ever Seen In That State, Says Big Wholesaler.

The fact that 625,000 bottles of Tanlac have been sold in the state of New York since its introduction there less than one year ago, is a big business item that will attract unusual attention throughout the entire East, for nothing like it has ever happened before. It breaks all records.
Mr. George B. Evans, manager of the Gibson-Snow Company, the well-known wholesale druggists, with branches in Albany, Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse, recently announced that the preparation was now selling in their trade territories alone at the phenomenal rate of approximately 500,000 bottles a year.
"If the present rate continues," said Mr. Evans, "this state alone will probably require considerably over 750,000 bottles a year. This is a tremendous figure ,but I am really conservative in making this statement."
Tanlac is sold in Alexandria by Edgar Warfield, Jr.

The Alexandria Gazette

Established in 1784.

Oldest Daily Newspaper In The United States

The Gazette publishes a daily excerpt from the pages of the Alexandria Gazette of 1813, exactly 108 YEARS AGO on each day of re-publication.

IN THE YEAR '13

The War of 1812 was still reddening the land with American and British blood.

Ships were loading at Alexandria for foreign ports and the Atlantic Coast.

The final overthrow of the North American Indians was drawing nigh, and the Gazette's pages of 1813 are filled with their heroic struggles against the white man.

Napoleon Bonaparte, after his disastrous retreat from Moscow, was fighting for his life and that of the French Empire. The star of his destiny was already on the wane, and the finger of Fate pointing to Elba.

Henry Clay was speaker of the House. John C. Calhoun and Daniel Webster were likewise members, on opposing sides.

James Madison, of Virginia, was President. James Monroe, of Virginia, was Secretary of State.

The United States was paying yearly tribute to the Algerian pirates!
